Admiral Hipper Class: The Spearhead of the German Navy

The Admiral Hipper class heavy cruisers emerged as the backbone of the Kriegsmarine. These sleek and powerful warships, featuring an advanced combination of speed, firepower, and protection, terrorized Allied shipping lanes.

Discover the intricate design of these cruisers, marveling at their innovative armament systems that included 20.3 cm (8 inch) guns and sophisticated fire control technology. Follow their daring raids on Allied convoys and witness their pivotal role in Operation Barbarossa, the invasion of the Soviet Union.

Admiral Scheer Class: The Heavy Hitters of the Atlantic

The Admiral Scheer class heavy cruisers represented the pinnacle of German naval engineering. Larger and even more heavily armed than the Admiral Hipper class, these warships were designed to dominate the Atlantic Ocean.

Explore the unique features of these cruisers, including their powerful 28 cm (11 inch) guns and impressive armor protection. Witness their relentless attacks on Allied shipping and their daring breakout into the Indian Ocean, becoming the only German surface raiders to circumnavigate the globe during World War II.
