Understanding the Scar Rule

At the heart of Cho's leadership philosophy lies the concept of the "Scar Rule." This rule posits that every great leader bears a scar, a mark of the challenges and hardships they have overcome on their journey to success. These scars are not to be hidden or ignored; rather, they are to be embraced as badges of honor, symbols of the resilience and determination that define exceptional leaders.

Cho argues that the path to leadership is paved with obstacles and setbacks, and it is through facing these challenges head-on that true leaders emerge. By embracing the Scar Rule, leaders can transform adversity into opportunity, turning their scars into sources of strength and inspiration for themselves and those they lead.
